After a two hour delay the flying governors, piloted by Roscoe Turner, who flew them east to attend a convention of Governors at Richmond, took off about 10 o'clock.

The Star Buys Its Present Home at 212 South Walnut

Building Leased by Newspaper in Feb. Purchased From Talbot Feild

CONFIDENT OF CITY

Star Becomes First Home-Ownning Paper in History of Hope

The new building location at 212-214 South Walnut street into which The Star moved February 13, became its permanent home Saturday when the newspaper purchased the property from Talbot Feild.

The terms of the purchase were not made public. C. E. Palmer and Alex. H. Washburn, owners of Star Publishing company, had closed a five-year lease with Mr. Feild in February; and finding after three months' occupancy that the property was ideal for newspaper purposes, concluded a purchase agreement that was in the making at the time the lease was signed.

Adjoins Postoffice

The Star building is on the south side of the postoffice lawn, with a paved alley between, and a second paved alley to the rear of the building.

The property has a 40-foot frontage facing east on Walnut street, and runs back 100 feet, including the 16-foot alley at the rear. The building is 40 by 84. The newspaper offices are in a 40 by 25-foot compartment at the front, while behind an interior wall are the composing and press room, job department, and paper storage, occupying combined space 55 by 40. The newspaper carries an average roll paper stock of from one to one-and-a-half carloads.

Formerly the paper stock was housed in separate warehouse, and transferred about twice a week to the newspaper shop. Removal to the new building, however, eliminated the weekly drayage.

Building's History

The building is of brick and steel construction. It was put up in 1913 by E. S. Greening and J. N. Riley. Ownership passed to Jett Williams, and then to Talbot Feild, from whom The Star purchased it.

The first tenant, in 1913, was Theo. P. Witt, operating a shoe repair shop and harness and leather business. The passing of the harness business shortly after the war caused Mr. Witt to concentrate more on his shoe repair business, and he found the building too large. He is now located on South Main street in an up-to-date shoe repair shop.

The next tenant was Joe Coleman, who for several years operated the Willys-Overland auto agency here. F. L. Wood followed him in the same location with the Chrysler agency.

In the fall of 1928 Hubert Lindsay took the building as headquarters for the Southwest Arkansas Implement company, dealers in International Harvester equipment. Mr. Lindsay vacated the property and moved across the street three months before The Star leased it.

Developed in 1919

When Mr. Greening and Mr. Riley put up The Star building in 1913 the land was occupied by a frame residence. Their development work resulted in the creation of a new business district near the intersection of Walnut and Third streets, now dominated by the automobile, farm implement, and service station businesses.

In purchasing the first newspaper home in Hope, Mr. Palmer and Mr. Washburn based their expectations on the performance of business during recent months, somewhat less than the performance in 1929 and 1930, but slightly better than 1931, and in the firm belief that Hope and its territory are already on the way back to normal business.

While advertising suffered a decline in 1931, subscription revenues are showing a large increase for the fourth consecutive year, the owners said.

Huey Long Pleads For Bill's Passage

Measure to Strengthen Anti-Trust Law Is Presented

WASHINGTON — (AP) — In contrast to the outbreak on the senate floor Friday, Senator Huey Long, Louisiana Democrat, Saturday expounded his bill to strengthen anti-trust laws before the Senate Committee.

His voice which shouted bitter attacks on the leadership Senator, Joe T. Robinson of Arkansas Friday, never rose above a conversational tone in his talk to the committee Saturday.

He cited court decisions in arguing for his bill, which would have the court punish monopolies without going into whether they were reasonable or unreasonable.

Dupre Acquitted In Slaying Case

Former Louisiana Jurist Is Given Freedom on Self-Defense Plea

OPELOUSAS, La. — (AP) — A St. Landry parish District Court jury Friday night acquitted former Judge Gilbert L. Dupre, aged and deaf, of a charge of manslaughter in the slaying last Thanksgiving Day of Charles Dejean, 38, salesman, who had ridiculed his political affiliations.

The jury returned its verdict after deliberating one hour and 20 minutes. The former jurist and state legislator, claimed self-defense for shooting Dejean on a street here a few hours after a dispute in the Elks Club.

Dejean had provoked by teasing the politician for switching his support to the state administration after having bitterly fought the policies of Huey P. Long.

Dupre testified he feared bodily harm when Dejean approached him that afternoon and that he shot when Dejean advanced upon him. Dejean, unarmed, apparently did not believe Dupre would fire upon him.

A dying statement in which Dejean said "Poor old fellow, let him go," was an important part of the trial testimony.

Tomato Acreage To Be Increased

Three Per Cent Increase in the State Predicted This Season

The latest reports indicate a three per cent increase in the acreage devoted to shipping tomatoes in the immediate states over that grown in 1931. Arkansas is classed with his group. The intended acreage is the largest in the last five years. Arkansas planted 4,700 acres in 1931 and is estimated to have 5,170 acres in 1932.

In addition to the increased acreage there is added competition in prospect from the second early section. Many of the growers in the earlier shipping sections, especially in East Texas, Louisiana and Mississippi with the plants in the fields or ready in the coldframes lost them during the freezing weather. However, growers reseeded their hotbeds and this will bring this section along at least two weeks later than normal with prospects for direct shipping competition with Arkansas and the other intermediate states.

Unless conditions improve materially, or other factors enter to change the situation, prices obtained may not be satisfactory, due to the extra acreage involved.

6 Great Drainage Ditches Dug For Mosquito Control

City of Hope Finishes Project to Eliminate Standing Surface Water

DONE IN 3 WEEKS

Crew of 12 Paid Men, and City Prisoners, Finish Big Task

A city-wide system of six drainage ditches designed to help free Hope from the mosquito pest this summer, was completed Saturday by Sing Mauldin, city street commissioner, and a special force of men.

They were three weeks digging the ditches, which total several miles in length, and approach the city from all four wards.

The work was directed by Mr. Mauldin, under supervision of Charles E. Taylor, chairman of the streets committee of the city council; and it was inspected Friday afternoon by a party comprising Mr. Mauldin, Mr. Taylor, Wash Hutson, and Alex. H. Washburn of The Star.

Twelve paid men and the available prisoners from the city jail were used on the job.

Anti-Mosquito Campaign

The city council and Mayor John Vesey announced early in the spring that the city would make a vigorous effort to hold down mosquito breeding this year. Co-operation of householders in eliminating the cans, barrels and other water containers from their property, will be asked by the city; but in the meantime the fundamental work of providing for the escape of surface water from low places in the city was undertaken by the street department.

This has been completed.

The first of the six long ditches begins on the north side of the Missouri Pacific main line, Ward Four, and runs past the Williams & Sons lumber plant, the plant of the Southern Ice & Utilties Co., and escapes beyond Cook's Gin, where it joins a creek and eventually flows into the Little Missouri and Ouachita rivers.

Top of Watershed

As many persons know, Hope is at the very top of the Southwestern Arkansas watershed. In Ward Four, drainage water flows east to the Ouachita river. In all the other wards, water flows west to Caney creek, which empties into Red river.

The second ditch begins at the Nashville branch of the Missouri Pacific and runs through Ward Three, past the Hope Heating company and Union Compress & Warehouse Co. plants, carrying surface water out of the city.

A third, smaller ditch, also in Ward Three, consists of short laterals which drain off water near the old Fulton road to the big Missouri Pacific ditch paralleling the main line of the railroad.

One of the longest ditches is the fourth one, in Ward Two, which begins just west of South Washington street and runs to a creek beyond the Fair Grounds.

A fifth ditch drains the area west of South Em street, gathering together several lateral ditches in a triangular system which concentrates the flowage in the old paved and gutted ditch that crosses the city in a southerly direction past the Hope Basket company plant.

Drains Ward One

Another of the longer ditches is the sixth and last, which parallels South Main street about a hundred yards to the east, running from the rear of Third street behind all the houses on South Main to a point below Julia Chester hospital. Then it swings into a storm sewer on Main street.

This last ditch is expected to alleviate trouble from overflow on South Main during storms, although not entirely. Poor drainage engineering on the paved street will allow flooding in the heaviest storms, but much of the surface water that overflowed the street during ordinary rains may be carried away by the new ditch.

7 Are Fined For Damaging Depot

Two Draw $10 Fines and Others Let Off With $1.00 Each

Wounded Motorist Awarded Damage

ATLANTA, Ga. — (AP) — A motorist wounded by a deputy sheriff who sought to search the automobile for liquor without a warrant was awarded $1,000 damages Friday by the Georgia Court of Appeals.

Harry Salmon, plaintiff, testified he resisted then Deputy Sheriff L. B. Jolly began searching the car near Rome, Ga., and the officer shot him.

The court held Jolly was beyond his rights in acting without a warrant and granted Salmon damages from the Maryland Casualty Company, the deputy's bondsmen.

Miss Marjorie Billings, 17, shown here, will be the reigning queen while the princesses who will attend her will be plucked from surrounding Washington and Idaho towns and from northwestern Indian tribes.

The work was directed by Mr. Mauldin, under supervision of Charles E. Taylor, chairman of the streets committee of the city council; and it was inspected Friday afternoon by a party comprising Mr. Mauldin, Mr. Taylor, Wash Hutson, and Alex. H. Washburn of The Star.

Bankers Conviction Opposed By High Court of Tennessee

Sentenced to Three Years on Fraudulent Breach of Trust Charge

HEAD OF BIG CHAIN

Court Criticizes Action of Justice in Dealing With Case

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — (AP) — The Tennessee supreme court Saturday reversed the conviction of Rogers Caldwell, 42, former investment banker, who was sentenced to three years imprisonment in criminal court here on charges of fraudulent breach of trust. The case was remanded for a new trial.

"Thank God for a supreme court," said Caldwell, as he heard the decision of the court.

Once Powerful Chain

Knife Blade Taken From Youth's Skull

Bloomburg, Texas Youth in Critical Condition After Operation

TEXARKANA—Floyd Sherman, 18-year-old youth of Bloomburg, Texas, was in a serious condition at Michael Meagher hospital Friday night after physicians had operated upon his skull to remove a two-inch knife blade which he had received in a fight near his home last Sunday.

The youth stayed on the operating table more than a half hour while surgeons probed the right motor area of the skull for the piece of steel. Although he reacted fairly favorably from the operation, his condition was considered critical.

Backs Hoover

"Mr. Hoover is our wen" . . . That was the remark uttered by Mrs. Henry W. Peabody, head of the Women's National Committee for Law Enforcement, when, as shown here, she emerged from a White House conference.

10 and 25 Prices Will Be Continued

New Low Schedule at the Saenger Theater Is Made Permanent

The Saenger theater announces a permanent price policy of children 10 cents and adults 25 anytime. This means that the 35 cent price on previews and Sundays is discontinued.

E. W. Hecht, manager of the Saenger, stated that the purpose in making this change is to have a set and definite price policy so that whenever a person attends the theater he or she knows the admission price will be no more than 10 and 25 cents.

Another change that has been made is the discontinuance of matinees every day in the week with the exception of Saturdays and Sundays. All pictures are to be shown on the following schedule.

The same picture that plays for the midnight preview will be shown on Sunday and Monday; another will be shown on Tuesday and Wednesday; another on Thursday and Friday; and the usual double feature on Saturday only.

The picture that plays for the mid-night preview Saturday and shows again Sunday and Monday is Maurice Chevalier in "On Your Way With You."

Carl English, near his home, about five miles from Bloomburg.

He was not believed seriously hurt at first, but his condition became gradually worse. The right side of his body had become paralyzed and he was believed near death when his parents brought him to the hospital.

Friday.

The youth's parents refused to discuss the cause of the fight which ended in the wounding of their son, declaring merely that it was "a family affair." Young English was not arrested at the time and members of the Sherman family said they did not intend filing a complaint against him.

"I Like the Depression," Says This Texas Writer

Henry Ansley, of Amarillo Globe-News Gives America a New Philosophy

Editor's Note: The following article, written by Henry Ansley of the Amarillo (Texas) Globe-News, was read before Hope Rotary Club Friday by Nick Jewell. Widely accepted as a new philosophy arising out of current business conditions, Mr. Ansley's amusing sketch was brought to Hope by G. J. MacGregor, manager of Hope Basket company, who has distributed a number of copies to his friends.

I like the depression. No more prosperity for me.

I have had more fun since the depression started than I ever had in my life; I had forgotten how to live, what it meant to have real friends, what it was like to eat common everyday food. Fact is, I was getting just a little high hat.

Then—And Now

Three years ago, only one man of the News-Globe organization could be out of town at a time and he had to leave at the last minute and get back as soon as possible. Many times I have driven 100 miles to a banquet, sat through three hours of bunk in order to make a five minute speech, then drive the 100 miles back so as to be ready for work the next morning.

Nowadays, as many News-Globe employees as are envied make those trips and we stay as long as we want to. The whole outfit could leave the office now and it wouldn't make any difference.

I like the depression. I have time to visit my friends, to make new ones. Two years ago when I went to a neighboring town, I always stayed at the hotel. Now I go home with my friends, stay all night and enjoy home cooking. I have even spent the week-end with some of the boys who have been kind enough to invite me.

Time, Neighbors, Clothes

It's great to drop into a store and feel that you can spend an hour or two or three or a half day just visiting and not feel that you are wasting valuable time. I like the depression.

I am getting acquainted with my neighbors. In the last six months I have become acquainted with folks who have been living next door to me for three years. I am following the Biblical admonition, "Love your neighbors." One of my neighbors has been the best-looking wives I have ever seen. She is a dandy. I am getting acquainted with my neighbors and learning to love them.

Three years ago, I ordered my clothes from a mercantile tailor—two and three suits at a time. All my clothes were good ones. I was always dressed up. But now, I haven't bought a suit in two years. I am mighty proud of my Sunday-go-to-meeting clothes. When I dress up, I am dressed up and I don't mean maybe, I like

I like the depression.

I am getting real, honest-to-goodness food. Three years ago, we had flet mignon once a week, now we have round steak and flour gravy. Then, we had roast breasts of guinea hen, now we are glad to get sow-benson with the buttons on it.

I like the depression. My salary has been cut to where I can't afford to buy lettuce and spinach and parsley and we can't afford to have sand-wiches and frozen deserts and all that damfoolishness which has killed more good men than the World war.

I like the depression. Three years ago, I never had time to go to church. I played golf all day Sunday and besides I was so darned smart that there wasn't a preacher in Arkansas who could tell me anything.

Now I am going to church regularly, never miss a Sunday.

And if this depression keeps on, I will be going to prayer meeting before long.

I like the depression.

NEW ORLEANS.—(AP)—Tulane university now owns an island.

It is Harbor Island, consisting of 800 acres, in St. Mary's river, Michigan, which has been presented to the university by Chase Osborn, former governor of Michigan.

Dr. A. B. Dinwiddie, president of Tulane, announced the gift and said the island was given without terms of any kind and the university may use the island in any way it sees fit.

Osborn, a close friend of Dr. Dinwiddie, has made frequent trips to Tulane and has expressed interest in the work being done here.

Administrators of Tulane will send representatives to Harbor Island this summer to determine for what purposes the land may be used. It has been suggested as a base for biological and general scientific study.

Program at Spring Hill

Other highlights of the Spring Hill meeting were several musical numbers by John Ridgill's five piece string band. Leffel Gentry led in community singing. T. M. Honea, principal of the school, gave the address of welcome. John P. Cox made a short and interesting talk. W. S. Atkins, of the vocational guidance committee of the Kiwanis club, announced the essay contest. F. N. Porter, of Hope, a guest of the club gave a short talk.

O. O. Brint, one of the leading citizens of the Spring Hill community expressed his thanks, and the thanks of the people of Spring Hill to the Kiwanis club for bringing the program.

He introduced A. B. Patten, Hope agent of the L. & A. railway, who had asked Mr. Brint for a place on the program to outline a plan whereby the railway would build packing sheds for the shipping of produce from Spring Hill, provided neighboring farmers would guarantee the shipment of enough produce to make it worth while for the railroad.

The community had asked the L. & A. for a packing shed. L. E. Robinson, of Colfax, La., agricultural and horticultural agent of the railway, urged the farmers to depend more upon trucking, and less upon cotton, in the face of present low prices in the fleece staple, and the fact that other communities can grow this staple with tractor farming for less than it can be produced in this section. He stated the railway would build the packing shed, provided they received contracts for planting and shipping which would assure that the shed would be used year after year. L. D. Bider, of Patmos, was a guest of the railway men.

The next Good-Will program of the Kiwanis club will be given at Ozan, May 13. On May 27 the club will go to Patmos with a similar program.

Major John S. Cohen Takes Dignity of Old South to Congress With Him—Launched Many Civic Projects in Atlanta

Major John S. Cohen.

ATLANTA, Ga.—(AP)—Maj. John S. Cohen has taken to the United States senate a courtly dignity, reflecting the culture of the old south to which he was born, February 26, 1870, at Augusta, Ga.

Appointed to succeed the late Senator William J. Harris, Major Cohen was chosen by Gov. Richard B. Russell, Jr., as a man "thoroughly informed on the many momentous issues now under consideration in Washington, as well as with the needs of our people and the aims and ideals of national democracy."

Senator Cohen long has been identified with the growth and progress of Georgia and his facility for making and holding friendships has made him one of the state's best known men.

He chose his profession—journalism—early in life. At 16 he resigned from the naval academy to become a printer, setting type by hand, a proof-reader and later a member of the editorial staff of the Augusta Chronicle.

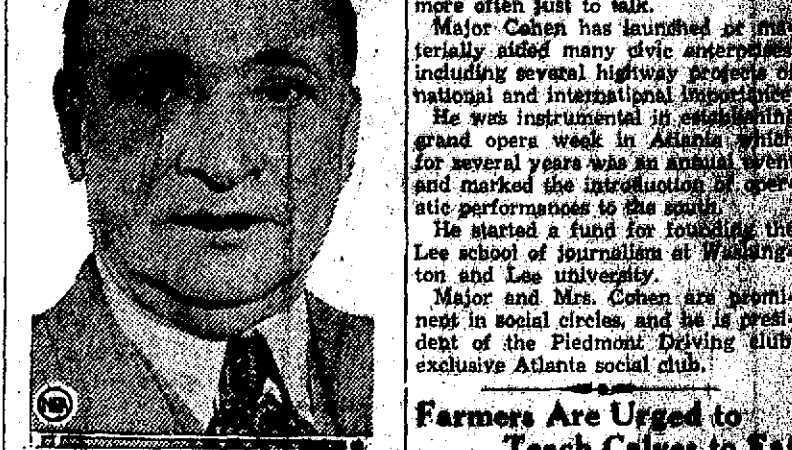

He has run the gamut of the newspaper profession from printer's devil to the chair of editor and publisher of one of the south's largest dailies—the Atlanta Journal—with which paper he has been for 42 years. Likewise, while serving in the United States army during the Spanish-American war, he rose rapidly from a private to the rank of major.

friends—is rarely ever alone in his office in the Journal Building. All employees of the newspaper feel free to walk into his office and sit down for a chat—sometimes business, but more often just to talk.

Major Cohen has launched a number of civic enterprises, including several highway projects of national and international importance. He was instrumental in establishing grand opera week in Atlanta, which for several years was an annual event and marked the introduction of operatic performances to the south.

He started a fund for founding the Lee school of journalism at Washington and Lee university.

Major and Mrs. Cohen are prominent in social circles, and he is president of the Piedmont Driving club, exclusive Atlanta social club.

Farmers Are Urged to Teach Calves to Eat

AMES, Iowa.—(AP)—Calves, like children, must be taught to like certain foods. Rex Beresford of Iowa State college believes.

This farm specialist suggests penning early calves away from their mothers and giving them shelled corn and whole oats when ten days to two weeks old.

They will acquire a taste for grain, Beresford has found, and even after being pastured will patronize the grain racks.

Calves born later, he has discovered, will follow the early ones to the feed pen and will quickly acquire the habit of eating grain.

Rare Midget Kangaroo Caught by Expedition

ADLAIDE, Australia.—(AP)—Dr. H. H. Finlayson, of the Adelaide university, has returned from an expedition to the interior of Australia with a midget kangaroo, rarest and least known marsupial of Australia.

It was thought that this little red-dish-gray creature was extinct, for it had not been seen for 90 years. In 1923 the Gould expedition obtained three specimens, the only ones now in existence, and all three are in the British Museum.

An effort will now be made to obtain a mate for the little captive.
